TECHNOLOGICAL SOLUTIONS AND AUTOMATIONS FOR PRINTING INDUSTRY

Quality is the focusing of EL-KO, with over thirty years experience on automation systems applications, continuously oriented to innovative products, as EL-KO ink feed systems are, a new generation for colour distribution, widely appreciated among Italian and foreigner customers.

Also RCS Quotidiani SpA - Milan has recently chosen the EL-KO system for its web-offset machines. After the great success of Drupa, during Grafitalia EL-KO is going to present new important implementations to Elcolora, the hydraulic ink feed system for sheet feed and web-offset machines, extremely profitable if used for more printing machines, ideal for centralized ink-management and various ink qualities, with loading of ink fountains also at a great distance, compatible with any other machines.

These changes will regard the automatic ink feeder too, a system for the automatic level control of ink inside fountains that assures a constant control of all ink-fountains without moving from control panel and the possibility to work on low levels.

The customer can inspect the system before the delivery and the installation might be carried out on customers' technician care according to EL-KO instructions; it is possible to schedule a meeting to see a system working.

Moreover EL-KO suggests solutions for any kind of automation, with a particular attention to software and hardware development; EL-KO projects and produces electrical boards, also for existing systems, control and monitoring equipments for thermal regenerative systems and driers.

The strategy of the factory points out to quality and specificity of products, wholly projected and produced by EL-KO, carefully controlled from the start of the project to the materials choice, the installation and the final acceptance test, assuring quality, safety and a long lasting life. In addition to the usual technical assistance, systems are provided with a remote control for a prompt and qualified assistance on installed equipments.
